

space planning and interior design

See the future

Our computer-aided design bureau can give you a dazzling view of how an interior can work and maximise return on your investment. And while we're designing, we're also planning to ensure your environment meets all the appropriate legislation and the needs of your workforce to help keep them comfortable and injury-free.

Our specialist office space-planning team can modernise your office, increasing productivity and creating a more effective working environment. From complete furniture and equipment inventories, to producing current office layouts and devising future office space plans, space-pod offers a complete space planning solution for the modern business.

Maximising return-on-investment

One of the key aims of our space-planning team is to ensure that we deliver a scheme that fundamentally underpins your mid and long-term business objectives, whilst maximising every square foot of floor space to ensure that you get the best return on your investment.

We also look to maximise the height available, specifically with storage and filing to ensure again that every square foot is being utilised as efficiently as possible.
